Long live our C. H. S.
With her students so brave and true.
May she ever stand for the right
And be ready and willing to do.
In times of our game or in class,
May her loyalty be the same;
Upholding, protecting, defending,
And guarding her honored name.

Then here's to our H. S. of C.
To her may we e'er be true.
At home or when we're far away,
Let us pay her the tribute due.
Her colors of red and white
Fill our hearts with the loyal love,
For they stand for the truth and right,
As proudly they wave above.

J. RUSSELL ELLIS

Administrator, Teacher, Friend, Christian Man

To his memory we dedicate our 1957 FLASH.

In his memory we dedicate our lives to those principles which made him the wonderful person he was.

J. RUSSELL ELLIS

1897 - 1957

James Russell Ellis, the son of John P. and Nellie Mae Clark Ellis, was born near LaGrange, October 1, 1897. He attended the rural school at Ten Mile and the first year of high school at a subscription school at Ten Mile. He finished his high school work at Canton, graduating with the class of 1917. After teaching at the rural school at Midway in 1917-1918, he volunteered for service in the army in September, 1918, and was enlisted in the student army training corps. He received an honorable discharge in November, 1918.

During the summer of 1919-20, Mr. Ellis worked as a crew and property man with the Redpath Vawter Chautauqua Association. Then the next year he taught in the high school at Ten Mile. During 1921-23 he was superintendent of schools at Durham, and from 1923 to 1927 he was superintendent of schools at Ewing. He was superintendent of schools at Maywood from 1927 to 1929, when he came to Canton as superintendent of schools, a position he has held until his untimely death.

Class History

One fine fall day in 1945 Canton Public School was blessed with the arrival of thirty-five darling first graders. Among those smiling faces were Charolette Brown, Bruce Dunlap, Edward Hardin, James Horsman, Mary Marks, Phyllis Shanks, Erlene Stiffey, and Michael Zenge. Miss Pauline Kiess instructed us for the first week before she became ill. Mrs. Frances Nichols substituted for her. Then Mrs. Ethel Lasswell acquired the job of teaching us demons for the rest of the year.

Karma Berry joined our happy second grade group. Our teacher was Mrs. Leeser. In the third grade Betty Jo Wiskirchen bolstered our number. Mrs. Owens was our third grade teacher. In the fourth grade we were not blessed with any new arrivals but we lost one happy member of our original class, Erlene Stiffey. Mrs. Legg taught us our multiplication and division tables. Mrs. VanTress taught our dubious class in the fifth grade. There were two additions to our class in the sixth grade. One, Erlene Stiffey, was a past member of our group and the other, Betty Ruth Powers, was a newcomer. We had the honor of being the first class taught by Mrs. Grandstaff.

At long last we were ready to take the big step, Junior High. Judith Clark joined our class just in time to take that big step with us. Mrs. McClain was our seventh grade sponsor. During the eighth grade our class was increased in number by two with the arrival of Jackie Mease and Robert Johnson. James Horsman and Patty Hamill were our King and Queen Candidates and we won the Junior High King and Queen Contest. Mr. Ohlendorf was our class sponsor.

After eight years of hard study we finally reached High School. Mrs. Ohlendorf followed our class up another step to be our freshman sponsor. Our sophomore year we were joined by Allene Weathers, Shirley Williams, and Evelyn Tate. Our sophomore class sponsors were Mrs. Motley and Mr. Kneeland. Our junior year was a very trying year with such events as: magazine sales which amounted to over $1000; our first three act play, "Here Comes Charlie"; and the best Junior-Senior Prom and Banquet with the theme, "Candyland". The class sponsors were Mrs. Leavitt and Mr. McCampbell.

In our senior year we were joined by Elaine Jackson. As seniors we have accomplished several things. A few are: the production of a three act play, "He Couldn't Marry Five", directed by Mrs. Ahrenholtz; the selling of pop corn, candy, pie, beanies, and picking up of corn for the Senior Trip to Chicago; and the taking of all those well liked tests. The Junior-Senior Prom and Banquet given in our honor by the juniors is one of the seniors fondest memories. The theme was "Oriental Gardens". Our co-sponsors were Miss DeLaney and Mr. Ellis. Our class colors were silver and blue; our flower was the bronze mum; and our motto was, "If The Road To Success Is Blocked--Detour".

Class Will

We, the Senior Class, being of sound mind and body to make this last Will and Testament on the twenty-third day of May in the year of our Lord, Nineteen Hundred and Fifty-Seven.

To the Faculty we bequeath all the undergrads.
To the Board we bequeath the school.
To the Juniors we bequeath our ability to stay in school and keep the teachers happy.
To the Sophomores we bequeath our attractive faces, figures, and personalities.
To the Freshmen we bequeath our good will---you'll need it before you graduate.
I, Karma Berry, bequeath my ability to get I's on vocal solos to Donald Sherwood.
I, Charolette I. Brown, bequeath my ability to take food from the Conrad Hilton and get away with it to Dick Blackmore.
I, Judith Janice Clark, bequeath Ed's ring to no one--it looks too nice on my finger.
I, Bruce Dunlap, bequeath my ability to sleep through classes to John Horsman.
I, James E. Hardin, having nothing I can afford to give, bequeath Judy's this year's Prom corsage to the Junior or Senior boy who needs one for next year.
I, James Horsman, bequeath my dramatic acting ability to Bob Helsabeck.
I, Elaine Jackson, bequeath my height to Marilyn Campbell.
I, Robert L. Johnson, bequeath the money I spent driving Ed around to no one--I'm still broke.
I, Mary Joanne Marks, bequeath my pony tail to Judy Sommers.
I, Jackie Lou Mease, bequeath little Sally Ann to Jane Taylor.
I, Betty Ruth Powers, bequeath my ability to help the cooks in the lunch room to Bill Berry.
I, Phyllis M. Shanks, bequeath my ability to help Mrs. Bradshaw to Clarence Tate.
I, Erlene Stiffey, bequeath my ability to get the only available male in the Senior Play to Sondra Watson.
I, Evelyn Inez Tate, bequeath my ability to keep Mrs. Motley laughing by giving unusual book reports to any one who needs to keep Mrs. Motley laughing.
I, Allene Weathers, bequeath my ability to laugh to Ginger Mease--who doesn't know how.
I, Shirley Louise Williams, bequeath my ability to miss the train to Chicago to Miss DeLany so she won't walk the streets of Chicago looking for bottle openers.
I, Betty Jo Wiskirchen, bequeath my ability to keep Mrs. Leavitt happy to Charles Brown.
I, Michael W. Zenge, bequeath my ability to be such a lucky guesser on tests to Barry Starr.

Class Prophecy

The year is 1967. The graduating class of 1957 is holding its first ten year reunion in the Boulevard Room at the Conrad Hilton Hotel in Chicago. All eighteen members of the original class are present--my, what excitement! The whole room is simply buzzing with confusion.

Over in the far corner of the room is none other than the famous Madame Charolletta, better known to most of us as Charolette Brown. Charolette now owns one of the most famous beauty salons in New York City. The former Shirley Williams is now a social secretary for the President's wife. Oh yes, she married Clarence. Lying asleep on the divan is Bruce Dunlap. He started out as a projectionist but with that Marlon Brando haircut he was soon discovered.

There is Mary Marks, the head of the Home Economics Department at Stevens College for Women. She says she loves being an old maid and intends to stay that way. That is the former Elaine Jackson, married to the President of the National Auto Supply Company. By the way Elaine is the mother of two sets of twins, all boys. Robert Lionel Johnson, Jr., as you know, is a big Oklahoma millionaire. In case you are wondering what he does with his money, he now owns his own chain of pinball machines.

The one and only Allene Weathers is now happily married and has a nice little family of her own. In her spare time, she is still private secretary for Mr. Ohlendorf. Pirouetting in the corner is Jackie Mease, prima ballerina with the Ballet Russe. During the Senior Play she was bitten by the ballet-bug and decided to make it her career. Here comes Betty Jo Wiskirchen, the second Betty Crocker and mother of three children. She recently patented her latest recipe discovery, Betty's Better Biscuits.

Entering in formation are General James Horsman, Mrs. Horsman, and their five little privates. Betty Ruth Powers is now coming into the room. Betty Ruth has recently married Alfred Hinton and they have a cute little home in Canton. Evelyn Tate, our next arrival, is head nurse in Walter Reed Hospital and is a special nurse to the President. Evelyn also has a husband and two lovely children.

Standing across the room is the suave and sophisticated Ed. Hardin. Ed is now top executive of Phillips 66 and simply rolling in money. Of course with those two girls and one boy (little Eddie, Jr.) he certainly needs it. The former Judi Clark, of course, is his happy little wife. On the side, Judi writes stories and novels for several well-known magazines. I'm sure you've all seen Karma Berry on her own television program, "Aunt Karma's Sing Song School". Karma finally found her Methodist minister, married him, and has two darling little girls.

Coming into the room is the former Erlene Stiffey, who is the principal of a private school for movie stars' children in Hollywood, California. Erlene finally found that certain man and is happily married and the mother of a beautiful little girl. Who is that creating a sensation over in the corner of the room? Why, of course, it's Michael Zenge playing the piano. I do hope he has permission from the program committee. Mike recently received his doctors degree in music from Julliard and is now playing at Carnegie Hall. Surrounding the former Phyllis Shanks are her husband, Ronald Clark, and their two girls and four boys. Obviously, Phyllis has little time for a career and is content to remain a housewife.

All are present and accounted for. We are going to take a boat ride for sure this time.

Chicago

May 3, 1957, found 14 seniors plus Miss Frances DeLaney and Frank Smith gathered at the Canton depot, waiting for the train that was to whisk us to Chicago for a whirlwind tour of the Windy City. After a hilarious train ride, we reached the big town, and registered at our home away from home, the YMCA Hotel. After unpacking tons of assorted baggage, our entourage hiked to the Prudential Building where we got our first real look at Chicago. From its tower we were able to see the whole city.

That night---out on the town as we split up to see Cinerama and The Ten Commandments.

We arose at a respectable hour and took a bus down the lake to the Museum of Science and Industry. While wandering about, our busy group picked up interesting pointers on hatching chickens, performing an appendectomy, stamping metal, etc. In the afternoon we descended on various stores that we had spotted the night before. This whirlwind shopping spree cost a small fortune and provided our group with such items as sissy dresses, candy turtles, uncounted pairs of shoes, and assorted exotic perfumes. That night we took a guided tour and saw "Chicago After Dark". Hull House, Skid Row, the Maxwell Street market, and even Chinatown where we paused long enough to buy Chinese puzzles, gold cigarette holders, and other widely assorted trivia. Around the corner we found the Chinatown City Hall and the Chinese Merchants Association. We toured the building and examined the unusual Buddhist temple room and the old Chinese courtroom.

Sunday morning, after a mad dash through town with taxi drivers who didn't know where they were going, we arrived at the Chicago Temple for church services.

After the service, we climbed to the steeple, 400 feet above the street, and viewed the Chapel in the Sky, a small, beautifully decorated room almost 40 stories above the streets of Chicago. Climbing down proved much easier than climbing up the 173 steps that led to the Chapel.

In the afternoon we walked through Grant Park to the Field Museum of Natural History, the Shedd Aquarium, and the Adler Planetarium. Here we explored many of the wonders from the world of Mother Nature. Coming back, we strolled up the lake shore on our way back to our hotel. That evening after dinner, we again split up to see a few of the many current movies playing at the Chicago theatres.

Monday morning, after a miserable night spent wrestling Coke bottles that didn't open because Eddie Foy's wouldn't supply a bottle opener, we picked up where we left off the day before. Hopping on a southbound El, we headed for the Chicago Stockyards with Mr. Smith in the lead. As we approached our destination, however, a certain something about the atmosphere created consternation in our midst. A hasty vote and we fled again to the north. Our sole view of the stockyards came as we circled them on our way back to the Loop.

We checked out of our hotel and, after taking our baggage to Union Station, we again assulted the department stores on State Street. This time our hours were spent more in window shopping than in actual purchasing of any of the delightful articles we saw. We feasted--our eyes, and ate bargain hamburgers to stretch our last dwindling pennies. We all gathered at the station and boarded the train for Canton. On the way, the effects of the past four days began to take their toll. Our return trip was considerably quieter than our first one. However, we revived sufficiently to play a last few hands of poker and read the magazines car. As we crossed the river into Missouri, we began made the horrifying discovery that while we had been able we had acquired so much paraphernalia in Chicago that difficulty in getting off. Music Notes

Under the direction of returning instructor Mr. Ned Day, the Music Department in 1956-57 compiled an enviable record.

The marching band made the first public appearance of the season at the annual Mark Twain Bandmasters Association Marching Festival in Hannibal, Mo. Newly enlarged to 42 members, the band took an active part in the day long series of parade, rehearsals, stunts, and massed band concert.

The Culver-Stockton Homecoming parade marked the band's first home town performance.

After reorganization as a concert group, the band, together with the mixed chorus, presented a Thanksgiving program for the school. Soon afterwards, the band presented an early winter concert.

A specially selected Christmas chorus presented a program of Christmas music preceding the Christmas play, "Why the Chimes Rang".

With the new semester, contest work began in earnest. The band chose for their numbers, "Westerner March" by J. J. Richards and "Spring Madrigal" by Joseph Skornicka. The Girls' Glee Club gave as their selections "Lift Thine Eyes" by Mendelssohn and an old folk tune, "Charlottown".

Following the round of spring contests, the state contest winners presented the department's annual spring concert.

The department's year was closed by the Girls' Glee Club who sang the traditional "O Divine Redeemer" at the Baccalaureate services on May 19.
